Week 50 Newsletter 2023

Over time, you may have noticed and possibly even explored our latest fundraising solution, now formally known as Formally. Formally empowers clubs to effortlessly create and manage events, while offering richer information and leveraging the latest technology. This evolution not only improves the personal experience but also paves the way for future feature enhancements.

In an era of dynamic growth, WinGrodno is expanding its horizons on multiple fronts. Our goal is to provide a comprehensive suite of services on one platform, with many more expressing keen interest. To consolidate our efforts and streamline our offerings under a unified brand identity, we've decided to rebrand WinGrodno as Formally.

Consequently, we're excited to announce the renaming of all our programs from WinGrodno to Formally. This transition entails the rebranding of Formally Live Timing, Formally Coach App, Formally Timekeeping, and CO, and their seamless replacement with Formally Meet Manager, Formally Timekeeping, and Formally Announcer.

We plan to terminate the possibilities to create competitions and to upload information to the old LiveTiming www.thelivetiming.com starting from autumn 2024. You will still be able to see all the old results on thelivetiming.com for many years to come.

Note support page for Formally support.swimify.com
We have created a support page for Formally support.swimify.com with guides all the news updates, downloads, as well as a support ticket system where you can contact us for help.

Our new website for creating events and creating competitions for Formally LiveTiming is https://admin.formally.com for competitions hosted in Australia/New Zealand and https://admin.formally.live for competitions in Americas/New Zealand.

Here you can, among other things, easily invite coaches to use the coach app. Every club that has a Formally license has been registered in the system. The coaches can easily create an account if they don't already have an account on Formally, your user has been linked to a Club Admin on Formally Admin. If you do not have an account yet but have been invited to use the coach app, your user will be linked and automatically be connected as Club Admin to your club when you create an account. Read more about Formally Admin for Australia/New Zealand here: https://admin.au.swimify.com, Australia/New Zealand.

A guide on how to use Formally Admin is available here: Formally Admin Help

Coach now features a new Coach app to help coaches get their individual logic which they can use in all competitions. There is no need to enter the competition code every time a coach wants to get behind, first coach account gets connected to the competition in Formally Admin.

Coaches can get access to competitions in three ways:

1. Get an invitation to a competition where your club has swimmers entered by the competition organizer, and accept the invitation.
2. Find a competition where your club has swimmers entered by using the search function in the coach app and request competition access. The competition organizer must accept your request before you get coach access to find competition.
3. Manually get added by the competition organizer in Formally Admin.

For way 1 or way 2 to work, you must first be added as a coach in your club in Formally Admin.

Formally Meet Manager
Pre-Entry

Getting a transition period you will be able to choose which end event system you want to use, Formally Meet Manager or Meet Manager. If you want to use both Meet Manager and Formally Meet Manager you will have to create two competitions in Formally Admin.

Last version of the competition is held after September 1st, 2023, it must be ordered and executed via the Formally platform.

If you only want to use Live Results Only, tick the box "Use only Formally" and enter your Formally competition code, which you can find on admin.formally.com or admin.formally.live. Read more about Live Results Only here: Live Results Only

Result groups

Result groups is a new feature in Formally Meet Manager that is used to group results in a certain event and round. For example, you can make a result group that only contains swimmers from a certain country, only include swimmers that have a certain time, only include swimmers from a certain club, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain age group, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain gender group, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain event number, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain heat number, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain lane number, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain seed time, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result time, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result place, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result points, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result status, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result comment, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result custom field, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result custom field, only include swimmers who have competed in a certain result custom field
